BART and TLC Present:

Classroom Management Techniques:
Dealing with Everything from Distressed Students to Disruptions and Distractions

Hosted by: Janet Millar (Counseling) and David Schecter (Faculty Affairs)

Date & Time: Friday, April 24, 2015 at 10:00 AM
Location: Faculty TLC Conference Room, WSL 102

This workshop will provide advice and guidance to faculty for dealing with disruptive student behavior, the numerous distractions that can take students off-task, and some response techniques you can consider implementing in your classroom. We will review a number of contemporary resources available to faculty, talk about the differences between distressed and disruptive students, and how to deal with uncivil or even threatening behaviors. We want you to leave the workshop empowered, confident, and ready to tackle any classroom management issue that might arise.

This workshop is open to all faculty, so whether you are early in your teaching career or have been around awhile, but want to learn some new techniques, we hope you will join us for this informative discussion!

Please email tlc@csub.edu or call x2084 to RSVP for the workshop.

For a list of all TLC workshops, visit http://www.csub.edu/tlc/events_workshops/index.html

*BART is the campus Behavioral Assessment and Response Team and TLC is the campus Teaching and Learning Center