President’s Introduction

This strategic plan has been developed to guide the University community on our path to realization of our vision of excellence by 2014-15. The background on the development of our vision statement was presented in my first University Day address on September 7, 2004. That address is posted on our campus website.

Our strategic plan is an organic document. While the goals and objectives will remain fairly stable, strategies and initiatives will change over time. In fact, many strategies have been implemented even while this document has been in the process of being finalized. Rather than being primarily a hard copy document stored on a shelf, our strategic plan is an electronic document that will be updated monthly, as necessary, as new strategies and initiatives are developed and others are fully implemented. Appropriate metrics and benchmark data for each goal will be posted on an annual basis.

As we move forward, a significant factor that will advance our efforts is having a sense of campus community—a shared sense of purpose, belonging and mutual respect, and shared accountability for the future of CSUB. Through our “partnerships for excellence” we will realize our vision.

Horace Mitchell, Ph.D.
President
Background

When California State College, Bakersfield (CSCB), opened for classes on October 1, 1970, it marked the fulfillment of a twenty-year dream—the dream of a baccalaureate-degree granting institution in the Southern San Joaquin Valley and High Desert. Chartered in 1965 as part of a bill authored by Bakersfield’s own Senator Walter Stiern, CSCB became the 19th campus of the CSC system. The first president was hired in 1967. Groundbreaking ceremonies, presided over by then-Governor Ronald Reagan, took place on April 11, 1969. CSCB became California State University, Bakersfield (CSUB) in 1988.

CSUB is the only four-year-degree-granting campus within a 100-mile radius. It serves a vast region encompassing Kern, Tulare, Inyo, and Mono counties, and parts of Los Angeles and Kings counties. The main campus is located on a 375-acre site, which was donated by the Kern County Land Company to the State of California for the university, a remarkable demonstration of the community’s commitment to and support for the institution.

The University is committed to being a comprehensive University and strives for excellence in its four schools: Humanities and Social Sciences; Business and Public Administration; Natural Sciences and Mathematics; and Education. CSUB awards bachelor’s degrees in 31 academic areas. The master’s degree is awarded in 22 academic areas. Some 7,800 undergraduate and graduate students attend CSUB at either the main campus in Bakersfield or the Antelope Valley Center. There are over 27,000 living alumni, 70% of whom continue to reside in our service region.

CSUB is distinguished by an outstanding faculty, excellent academic programs, and by the extraordinary accessibility of the faculty to students. Small classes and close interaction between students and faculty enhance the learning environment. Over 90% of the tenured faculty earned doctorate degrees in their fields of study. CSUB has the highest percentage of faculty in the CSU with terminal degrees. The student-to-faculty ratio is 18:1. CSUB hosts numerous centers and institutes, which promote scholarly research and publication and give students an opportunity to conduct research, as well as provide invaluable scholarly and research resources to the community. The University is fully accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges.
Mission

California State University, Bakersfield is a comprehensive public university committed to offering excellent undergraduate and graduate programs that advance the intellectual and personal development of its students. An emphasis on student learning is enhanced by a commitment to scholarship, diversity, service, global awareness and life-long learning. The University collaborates with partners in the community to increase the region’s overall educational level, enhance its quality of life, and support its economic development.
Vision

By 2014-15 CSU Bakersfield will be the leading campus in the CSU system in terms of faculty and academic excellence and diversity, quality of the student experience, and community engagement. Realization of our vision will be advanced by recruitment, development and promotion of excellent and diverse staff within an organizational culture committed to excellence in all areas.
Academic Strategy

Over the next ten years, the University will develop plans to increase the student enrollment by about 10,000 students. While continuing its commitment to the enrollment of community college transfers and non-traditional aged students, an increased emphasis will be placed on enrolling more first-time freshmen directly from high school, and more students from other California counties, other states, and other nations. We will review our existing academic programs and determine what new academic programs should be added to meet the changing student, community and economic development needs of our region. New faculty will be recruited as the enrollment grows. New academic buildings will be planned to accommodate the expansion of academic programs and student enrollment.
