BPA ADVISING FRAMEWORK

The School of Business and Public Administration at California State University, Bakersfield is among the elite five percent of business schools internationally accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB). Our Public Policy and Administration Department is NASPAA accredited, the gold standard for its programs. Courses are taught by a synergistic mix of research active Ph.D.'s and experienced community professionals.

The BPA Advising Center is staffed by professional academic advisors who provide valuable services facilitating student success. The Center is open year round. Regardless of your major and concentration, you will find professional networking and social opportunities in a student club aligning with your academic interests and career goals.

Transfer students will first meet with a faculty or professional advisor who will introduce you to campus resources, policies, and your major. During this initial meeting, your advisor will review and evaluate your past academic history.
