Lower Division

ENGL 950 Critical Reading
Practical application of critical reading strategies to college-level reading material. Students will also write frequently in response to their reading. This course is required in conjunction with ENGL 1100.

ENGL 1000 Reading for College Success (1)
Designed to help students read, think, organize, and write successfully at the college entry level. This class will assist students in developing and mastering academic reading, academic writing, and critical thinking skills so they can communicate their ideas effectively and respond capably to college-level materials. This course is typically offered in the Summer.

ENGL 1100 Critical Reading and Writing (3)
Study of rhetorical patterns as critical thinking strategies to help students develop effective college-level writing skills. Frequent short papers in a variety of essay modes assigned, and the fundamentals of grammar, usage, punctuation, and spelling reviewed as necessary. This is a sequence course that will continue in ENGL 1109. Corequisite: ENGL 950.

ENGL 1109 Writing and Research (3)
Practice in expository writing, focusing on the college research paper. Includes instruction and assignments in critical reading, writing, and research with a focus on purpose, audience, occasion, and tone. Prerequisite: Placement in Category 2 or Grade of D- or higher in ENGL 1100 or equivalent for students in Category 3 or 4. Satisfies general education requirement A2.

ENGL 1208 Introduction to Literature (3)
Introduction to major literary works as they embody traditional forms and literary devices and as they express enduring themes in social, historical, or aesthetic contexts. Includes the study of one or more of the four basic genres (poetry, fiction, drama, and nonfiction prose). Focus of the course will be indicated in the class notes section of the class search (e.g. Intro. to Lit.: Fiction and Non-Fiction, or Intro. to Lit.: Poetry.) Focus placed on literary terminology and the development of analytical research skills. Satisfies general education requirement Area C2.

ENGL 1500 Video Games as Literature (3)
This class will examine the relationship between literature and videogames by looking at a range of artifacts: novels about videogames, works of interactive fiction, electronic literature, and modern digital games that take on certain literary qualities. The goal of this class is not necessarily to equate videogames with novels or poems but to instead consider how videogames intersect with and complicate the category of “literature.” Students in this class will read novels, play games, and make games. No technical expertise is required.

ENGL 2000 The English Major and Career Opportunities (1)
This course is designed to introduce students to the requirements and basic methods of the English major. In addition, it will allow them to explore career opportunities in a variety of professions, including teaching literature and language, writing, publishing, editing, public relations, advertising, law, library science, etc. This course is offered on a credit, no-credit basis only. A study of selected poetry, fiction, non-fiction, and drama from 1900 to the present, with particular emphasis on major figures, as well as movements such as late naturalism, modernism, and postmodernism. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410.

ENGL 3220 Studies Fiction: African-American Experience (3)
Intensive examination of African-American experience as portrayed in slave and contemporary African-American Literature, fiction and critical essays using various critical approaches (e.g., multicultural, postcolonial, mythological, historical, and formalist). Such themes as slavery, alienation, religion, and triumph of the spirit will be explored. As we discuss African-American experience in the selected fiction, we will also be engaged in comparative analysis of the images of Blacks presented in selected major non-Western literatures. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410.

ENGL 3230 Studies in Chicano Literature (3)
Examination of the experiences of Chicana and Chicano writers as portrayed in their fiction, drama, poetry, and film and as interpreted by current ethnic literary theory. Course also includes study of the socio-cultural milieu from which the literature emerged. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2228, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410.

ENGL 3248 Ethnic Literatures (3)
ENGL 3248 focuses on the experiences of writers who are concerned with the issues of race, ethnicity, and gender in their non-fiction, short fiction, poetry, novels, autobiographical essays, aesthetic and political manifestos, and the hybrid genres produced by their creative energy. Course content— which varies from semester to semester—centers on two fundamental questions: first, how an author’s race/ethnicity/ gender influence what he/she writes. Second, how literature exposes the social construction of race and its impact on quality of life. Prerequisites: Junior status or higher and either (1) complete JYDR or (2) corequisite any JYDR course. Satisfies general education Quality of Life and upper division Area C.

ENGL 3250 Literature by Women of Color (3)
An extensive examination of the experiences of women of color both in the U.S. and abroad as portrayed in their fiction, nonfiction, and poetry and as interpreted in feminist and ethnic literary theory and criticism. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410.

ENGL 3268 Writing Nature: Literature and the Environment (3)
This course explores the intersection between literature and nature, looking closely at such issues as literary interpretations of the land, the imposition of cultural/ideological influences on the representation of nature, narratives of exploration and discovery, and the importance of gender, race, and ethnicity in a literary relationship to nature. In addition to literary texts, course readings may include essays, histories, diaries, letters, film, and photographic collections. Prerequisites: Junior status or higher and either (1) complete JYDR or (2) corequisite any JYDR course. Satisfies general education Sustainability and Justice upper division Area C.

This course offers an institutional, aesthetic, cultural and political history of motion pictures across the world, from the pre-history of the medium to the contemporary moment. Prerequisite: ENGL 1109 or the equivalent.

ENGL 3518 Special Topics in Film Studies (3)
The “New Hollywood” movement, sometimes called the “American New Wave,” was an unprecedented chapter in the U.S. film industry. A new generation of filmmakers, influenced by innovative European and Asian cinema and marked by the social upheaval—Vietnam, Watergate, civil rights protests, women’s liberation, the sexual revolution, sex, drugs, rock and roll and so on—sought to make films that were artistically ambitious and socially relevant. For a dozen or so years, New Hollywood filmmakers produced several daring, exciting movies that challenged the narrative and stylistic norms of classic Hollywood. Prerequisites: Junior status or higher and either (1) complete JYDR or (2) corequisite any JYDR course. Satisfies general education Quality of Life and upper division Area C.

ENGL 3600 Structure of English (3)
Systematic examination of Modern English phonology, morphology and syntax. Prerequisite: ENGL 1109 or the equivalent.

ENGL 3610 General Linguistics (3)
Basic concepts, theories, and issues in the study of language, with emphasis on the sound system, principles of word formation, and the semantic and syntactic patterns of English. Consideration is given to first and second language acquisition and the relationship between language and culture. Prerequisite: ENGL 1109 or the equivalent.

ENGL 3620 Language Structure Acquisition K-8 Teachers (3)
Systematic examination of the structure of Modern English with emphasis on phonology, morphology, syntax, semantics and pragmatics. Also covers first and second language acquisition by children. Course materials also address recent policies and standards as they impact the elementary language arts classroom.

ENGL 3630 Expository Reading/Writing K-8 Teachers (3)
This course is designed to explore the fundamentals of developing literacy as a foundation for effective literacy instruction at the K-8 grade levels. Students will develop a basic knowledge of literacy development, including phonemic awareness, phonics, vocabulary development and comprehension of texts. Students will also gain knowledge of the theoretical underpinnings of both the reading and writing process, as well as an understanding of assessment methods and instruments for early literacy. Course materials will also address recent policies and standards as they impact the elementary language arts classroom.

ENGL 3640 Writing in a Second Language (3)
The writing process and the written products of people composing in English as a second (or third, fourth, etc.) language. Topics of discussion include contrastive analysis, error analysis, and evaluation. Special attention will be given to the writing problems of international students learning English and to appropriate instructional procedures helpful to such students. Prerequisites: ENGL 2608 or 3610.

ENGL 3650 Second Language Acquisition (3)
This class discusses the conscious and unconscious processes of learning a second language after the first language has already been acquired and examines some of the major theories that have been advanced to support second language acquisition. These theories include cognitive style, interlanguage, linguistic universals, and acculturation.

ENGL 4070 Composition Tutorial (1)
An online writing lab using the My Writing Lab Plus program (not Blackboard) that generates individualized plans for each student. This program focuses primarily on writing and grammar/mechanics. In the first few weeks of the semester, students should log into the program and take a diagnostic test that will design their MWLP program. By the end of the semester, students should have completed 20 topics (of their own choice) from their individualized programs. May be repeated for up to 6 units.

ENGL 4100 Creative Writing (3)
Experimental writing, investigation, and discussion of creative writing and the creative process, with individual and group analysis of student work. Course may focus on poetry, fiction, non-fiction, drama, or more than one of these. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410.

ENGL 4400 Children Literature for K-8 Teachers (3)
This course will consider novels, poetry, folktales and fairy tales, and drama as they are represented in various cultures through children’s literature. Using principles of literary analysis, it will focus on the selection of literature for children to read and will also consider teaching plans to help students read literary texts with understanding and pleasure. Texts will include works by Blake, Dickens, Baum, Lowry, and Barrie.

ENGL 4410 Studies in 19th Century Children Literature (3)
This course studies nineteenth-century literature written for children but also addressed to adults. The course will focus on escapism versus realism, male versus female authors, and the social and cultural contexts out of which nineteenth-century children’s literature evolved. Authors studied may include Lewis Carroll, Charles Kingsley, and Frances Hodgson Burnett. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410.

ENGL 4420 Studies in 20th Century Children Literature (3)
This course studies twentieth-century literature written for children but also addressed to adults. It will explore realism and fantasy, social allegory, and the motif of the quest or journey. Authors studied may include Frank Baum, C.S. Lewis, and J.R.R. Tolkien. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410.

ENGL 4430 The Young Adult Novel (3)
This course studies fiction written for young adults. It will trace the development of literature specifically aimed at young adults and consider major historical and cultural events that shaped the literature. The course will explore mythology and archetypes, moral and literary codes, and the social contexts out of which young adult literature evolved. Works covered will include texts by such authors such as Louisa M. Alcott, Willa Cather, and J.D. Salinger. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410.

ENGL 4440 Children’s Literature and International Myth, Folk Tale, and Film (3)
This course will examine myths, folk tales, and films from diverse countries and the ways in which they express and shape collective values. Works covered include fairy tales, the oral tradition, fables within and outside the main Western tradition, and films. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410.

ENGL 4600 Morphology (3)
Morphology is the branch of linguistics dealing with the analysis of word structure. The course examines the common word-formation processes of inflection, derivation, infixing, compounding, and reduplication within the context of the lexical, metrical, and prosodic theoretical approaches. Emphasis is also placed on the interrelationship between morphology, the lexicon, phonology, and syntax. Prerequisite: ENGL 3610, or the equivalent.

ENGL 4610 Phonology (3)
Analysis of phonetics and phonology including distinctive features, patterns, systems, and processes of language within the framework of current generative phonological approach. Examples will be drawn from English and other languages. Prerequisite: ENGL 3610, 4650 or the equivalent.

ENGL 4620 Syntax (3)
This course provides an introduction to generative syntactic theory. Students will learn to draw tree diagrams and write transformation rules for sentences according to Chomsky’s Aspects model. Toward the end of the course, students will learn the basic principles of the Government-Binding model. There will be a heavy emphasis on analyzing syntactic data- some from languages other than English. Prerequisite: ENGL 3610, 4650 or the equivalent.

ENGL 4630 Semantics and Pragmatics (3)
Semantics deals with word-level and sentence-level meaning, while pragmatics is concerned with language use in different contexts and the reasons speakers vary their language in particular ways. Emphasis is placed on discovering how semantic and pragmatic structure interface with syntax, examining the systematic ways in which languages structure and encode meaning in words, sentences, and longer stretches of discourse. Prerequisite: ENGL 2608 or 3610 or the equivalent.

ENGL 4648 Sociolinguistics (3)
Examination of the relationship between language and such social variables as sex, economic class, race, and ethnicity. Topics include social dialects, linguistic stereotypes, code-switching, and the educational challenges of language minorities. A thorough linguistic comparison between one non-standard dialect and Standard American English will be included. Prerequisites: Junior status or higher and either (1) complete JYDR or (2) corequisite any JYDR course. Satisfies general education Quality of Life and upper division Area D.

ENGL 4650 History of the Language (3)
The development of English phonology, morphology, syntax, spelling, and vocabulary from the Old English period to the present. Prerequisite: ENGL 1109 or the equivalent.

ENGL 4660 Historical Linguistics (3)
Historical linguistics examines language change at different levels, including phonological, morphological, syntactic, semantic, and lexical change. The course also discusses such concepts as language contact and borrowing, comparative language reconstruction, language relatedness, and language families. Examples will be drawn from both Indo-European and non-Indo-European languages. Prerequisite: ENGL 3610, 4650 or the equivalent.

ENGL 4708 Studies in Fiction (3)
A course focusing on the historical development and formal features of a particular genre, such as the novel, the short story, poetry, drama, the gothic, folklore, epic, the Bible, etc. Specific works to be determined by the instructor. Prerequisites: Junior status or higher and either (1) complete JYDR or (2) corequisite any JYDR course. Satisfies general education Revolutionary Ideas and Innovations upper division Area C.

ENGL 4710 Topics in Literature (3)
Focused study of a particular theme or genre in literature. Specific topic determined by instructor. Prerequisite: ENGL 1208 or the equivalent or one course from ENGL 2100, 2208, 2210, 2220, 2308, 2310, 2408, or 2410. May be repeated for different course content.

ENGL 4720 Experiential Prior Learning (3)
