"WHAT BOX DO WE CHECK?":

A Conversation about Latinx Racial and Ethnic Identity

Dr. José G. Villagrán

THURSDAY, SEPT. 26

STOCKDALE ROOM | 12 P.M.

In the United States, people of Latin American and/or Hispanic origin often have a difficult time identifying themselves racially on forms soliciting this information from them. Due in part to this quandary, the U.S. Census Bureau has announced changes to the ways in which they will track race and ethnicity moving forward. In this Brown Bag discussion, Dr. José Villagrán will discuss the racial and ethnic classification of Latinx people in the United States as those engaged in the struggle for self-definition face these impending changes from the Census Bureau.

FREE lunch for the first 40 attendees!
