Instructions for Use:
IRPA's Public and Internal Dashboards

The Office of Institutional Research, Planning, and Assessment has developed dashboards for public and internal use. Both public and internal dashboards are located on the department website's homepage. Dashboards have been created with a focus on specific attributes of interest and have been categorized into three areas: Students, Faculty, and Staff. Each area is intended to have dashboards that highlight a different component of that attribute of interest. For example, Student dashboards highlight features such as registration, student enrollment, retention, and graduation. Each dashboard provides a description of the contents of the dashboard. For support in navigating the Tableau dashboard, please visit the Dashboard Tutorial page.

Public Dashboards

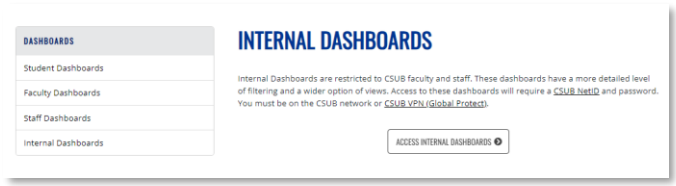

On the IRPA homepage, all dashboards are located at the top with Public Dashboards listed first. Click the link to navigate to each respective page. Each page will list all dashboards currently available. Click on the name of the dashboard to open the dashboard and view the data. No login is required to view a public dashboard. For support in navigating the Tableau dashboard, please visit the Dashboard Tutorial page.

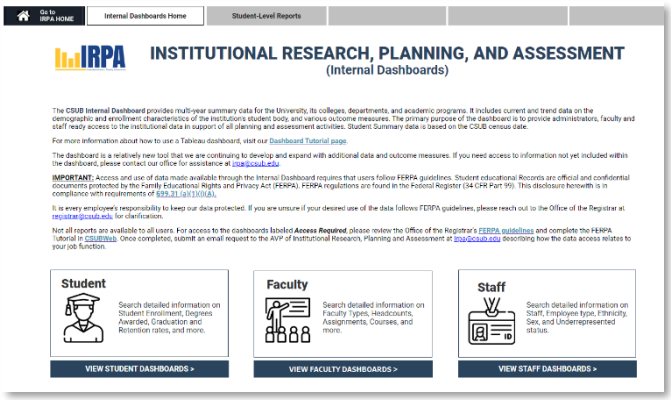

Internal Dashboards

On the IRPA homepage, all dashboards are located at the top with Internal Dashboards listed below the Public Dashboards. Click the button to navigate to the Internal Dashboards page. Please find the requirements for accessing the Internal Dashboards listed here. Internal Dashboards are only available to CSUB faculty and staff and require a CSUB login. All employees must abide by FERPA guidelines when accessing and using data from the Internal Dashboards.

The Internal Dashboard mirrors the layout of the dashboards on the IRPA homepage and provides additional dashboards exclusively made available to the campus community. Internal dashboards provide additional detail at the school, department, and major level and can be used to support strategic planning, grant reporting, and other campus-specific initiatives.

Any questions about the Public or Internal Dashboards can be directed to irpa@csub.edu.
