Program Overview

The recently-updated Master of Science Degree in Counseling with an emphasis in School Counseling is designed to prepare effective professional counselors to work in elementary, junior high/middle school settings. The School Counseling program at CSUB is accredited by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC).

The 52-semester unit program can be completed two and a half years while attending full-time. The courses include counseling classes, specialty classes, and a 800-hour fieldwork experience lasting one year. The courses reflect a practitioner emphasis, and some are taught by faculty working within various local school districts. All courses for the degree are conveniently offered weekdays after 5:00 pm on the Bakersfield campus.

Graduates of the School Counseling Program are recommended to the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC) for issuances of the Pupil Personnel Services (PPS) Credential. Extensive field-based experience is woven throughout the curriculum to provide hands-on training in many diverse school settings.
